

Unified Radiation

John Gray: For this gathering today, Chris Jorgensen and I share the pleasurable responsibility of giving voice to the word in expression in and through our outer selves, and in and through each of you present, and quite a large host of others in our individual and collective fields. The whole of us is right here, right now, and that includes all who will listen to or read these words later. This is a working session; thank you for fully participating!

Surveying our Zoom screen today, we see images of friends near and far, and we greet and bless one another. Most of us, looking at our physical appearances, have presumably fewer years ahead than behind us. Predominantly, we're a group of mature elders—and elderhood means much more than any chronological definition.

Attributing a spiritual meaning to a common turn of phrase, we have all been coming of age for quite some years. We've been learning, maturing, growing up, awakening; many descriptive terms apply. And common to all in this experience is the fact that personal identity has been focused in the one who has been growing.

An early stage of coming of age spiritually is wanting to be seen, which is an ego mistranslation of the truth of really already being somebody, but not fully knowing it yet. Maybe in our own early spiritual education experience, we discovered that we were truly seen with divine vision by someone else. This propelled us in our aspirational rising for a wonderful season, but response and attraction are not permanent stages in the process. As we've learned, then come union and unified radiation. We move out of feeling a need to be seen into seeing—initially, perhaps, truly seeing the someone or ones who previously saw and recognized the real us, but then that illusion of separateness—the veil, many of us have called it—dissolves further and we realize that I am the one who sees, and I see in the light that I express. While in the predominantly aspirational/educational phases of experience, however, the source of light is conceived to be elsewhere, perhaps shining through another person, and noticed as a bright, translucent effulgence. But as we truly mature, as we come of age, the capacity and capability to accommodate our own true Presence broadens, deepens, and clarifies. No longer is vision as through a curtain of translucent fog, but through a transparent window, clear as crystal.

What is this veil? To the yet unenlightened consciousness in, let's call it spiritual elementary school, it is imagined as something separate and above, like clouds that diffuse the sunlight on an overcast day. Really, however, what disconnects human consciousness from knowing true identity as a light being is not somewhere else. It is within the individual (and thus collective) heart. Impurities in the subconscious composition impede the light and produce an illusion of aloneness. Having now come of age, however, how about we simply drop the old conviction that an opaque or translucent veil of separation even exists? This dissolves the illusion. Poof! Let's shift our focus of attention from progressing upward in a coming-of-age process. We are of age, sufficiently mature to assume divine identity. It's right here to assume, and nothing stands in the way of doing so unless we give it that power in our imagination. By “assume,” I don't mean to pretend or fake, but to take on, to accept, as in assume responsibility.

Whether slowly or quickly, the time comes when my consciousness of myself is no longer the one growing up. I'm up! At the crossover point connecting heaven and earth, I know myself to be the One who has ever been, who has been present all along. I am this eminent one, the One who is. Now the focus of function has shifted, I suggest, from coming of age to coming into our own. My “own” is my body, heart, and mind, and my vast creative field beyond. And I flood the world I create with love. My identity is the incarnate eminent One I AM.

Here we have new work to do, and I say we are well prepared to do it. So, let's proceed with enthusiasm! This enthusiasm is not the youthful, passionate zeal we probably exuded back along the way. Now we are enthused with the wisdom of the elder we each are. You may know the word “enthusiasm” has wonderful etymology: it has the Greek theos in the middle and means, in essence, having a God within or being possessed by God. Our consciousness of identity is designed to be possessed by God. And in that silent, sacred state, we know unified radiation. Behold, I create!

The process of spiritual regeneration or re-creation of humanity as the enthusiastic body of God on earth necessarily employs the same principles as in the previous beginning long ago. References to these principles have been around for a long time. One such is Genesis 2:17 in the Bible: “And the LORD God formed man of the dust of the ground, and breathed into his nostrils the breath of life; and man became a living soul.” There is a single planetary focus of the LORD God, but for each individual human being, the LORD God is the incarnating light being I am. I researched a little and found that the word “dust” in this verse is a translation of the Hebrew abag, which more accurately means “fine dust” or “light particles.” The word dust in English is derived from a root meaning vapor. The word pneumaplastm wasn't coined until more than four centuries after the King James translation of the Bible was completed, but it may be clear that light particles and vapor refer to this spiritual substance.

The organized collection of LORD Gods present here and now today—ourselves and plenty of others—creates a new form of mankind out of the light particles and vapor of the existing earth. And we breathe into this new form of humankind and the planetary body, the breath of life: our radiation inspires and uplifts new earth substance and imbues it with the spirit of life. As we breathe together—which is what the root of the word conspire means, by the way—a newly re-created humanity and planetary body become a living soul: a unified entity of many members with a single archangelic identity.

How else did we imagine this would happen? By some disembodied extraterrestrial force? No. This is our job. It's why we're here. We need not speculate about how it all plays out. We hold steady and let the unified radiation do the work.

Heaven and earth are one because the exceedingly fine, clear substance of heaven interpenetrates, permeates and fills the denser earth, spiritualizing it. Heaven and earth are not two realms, but a single vibratory continuum. Separation only seems to be real below the crossover point where that veil thing is believed to be hanging over our heads. It's not so! This is the original big lie, and just about everybody has fallen for it, generation after generation. We clearly recognize this because in reality, we're all geniuses. You may know that the Latin genius actually means, “a guardian deity or spirit which watches over each person from birth.” How about that!?! Humanly speaking, we've had a guardian deity watching over us all along as we grew up and came of age. Now we know that we each are and always have been that deity.

Over to our genius friend, Chris.

Chris Jorgensen: Thank you, John. Excellent. I love everything you said.

Good day to everyone. I appreciate the opportunity to share a time of Attunement radiation with you today.

In February of 1987, Martin Exeter said, “Radiation. All that needs to be accomplished comes by reason of true radiation...true radiation is very compelling.”

Unified radiation is a hallmark of living in heaven on earth. As John said, having come to the crossover point in a consciousness of divine identity and in living, the door opens to creative function as a Creator-Being. Every expression released through the human capacities—feelings, thoughts, and acts—by the Creators we are, is a powerful divine act.

In my beginning days of learning Attunement, it was defined as a means to provide what is needful to initiate the process by which a consciousness of the oneness of heaven and earth may be known again by whoever was willing to participate in the process. Today, for those of us who have moved through that initial process and have come to experience union, the educational process is over. It is time to share Attunement, unified radiation, and to live and create as the Creator we each are.

Thus, as we live in heaven on earth, the definition of Attunement shifts to being the means of accomplishing divine work. Sharing Attunement, living consciously as a Creator, I know and trust that the radiation of who I am will care for all the factors in the field for which I am responsible. There's no need to sort through the many factors with a personal agenda; let the radiation do the work. Each of us may reveal that I am present in human form to steward the creative field of Life—the vibrational and energetic factors coming from the Whole, the Universe, Love, God Almighty, into our daily living on planet earth.

I would speak a word of thanksgiving for what has been provided by others throughout human history, others such as Buddha, Jesus, and in the Emissary background for most of us, Uranda and Martin Exeter. Each provided a sharp and powerful focus of divine identity and they were willing to assist any who were willing to move through the educational process. They were all great teachers! Because of that educational process, the awareness and the encouragement to engage in the creative process of Radiation, Response, Attraction, Union, has awakened divine consciousness in each of us. Today, in this hour, in this very moment each one of us can truly state: I am present! Our expression of unified radiation is revealing of our genuineness and authority. I am reminded of Chris Foster's poem, Bearers of the Sun. Here is a quote from the closing verse:

*We are not what we have thought ourselves to be
We are a Company of Creators
With fire in our nostrils
And in that fire all things are transformed
And the true destiny of men and women
And of this world
Is made known.*

Living as a company of Creator-Beings in heaven, we find that various patterns of human nature and behavior, as well as situational patterns in the Earth, will naturally present themselves to us. These circumstances are to be stewarded, attuned, balanced and released so that they can find their place to fit within the context of the larger whole, or be released and allowed to dissolve in the radiation as we refrain from personal translation.

Living in heaven, the dynamic world of Creator-Being-to-Creator-Being relationships comes into view and experience. These relationships carry the current and power of the divine: the unadulterated radiation of Love, peace, purpose, harmony in living, understanding the fitness of things in one's world, and sharing unconditional love. It is recognizing that any time that two or more of us are together we have the opportunity to share unified radiation. It could be a quick smile with a baby in the grocery store or exchanging a few words with the person pumping gas next to us. It is, in essence, living a conscious life, daily. This morning, we are sharing the unified radiation with other conscious Creator-Beings through their respective human forms. Our human forms are so blessed to participate in this new aspect of Attunement, in the release of the unified radiation of Love.

One could ask a question here: What is the reason for the unified radiation? In my view and understanding, it is to steward a field of action or to play a part in the stewarding of other existing creative fields. Each Creator-Being has a unique creative field to steward by reason of their Presence or radiation, the purpose of which is to set the ordinances—our radiation, vibrations and energies—of heaven in the earth of our human forms.

Each one of us participates in many creative fields. There are smaller and larger fields, longer-lasting shared fields (like marriage) and temporary fields (like today's online Zoom call). There are other Creator-Beings who come and participate in our unique fields, primarily through resonance, complementing and helping to fill and steward that field with us. And, we will find ourselves participating in larger fields—in fact, every Creator-Being in the project called Earth plays a part in the one planetary field that rests in the hands of the Creator-Being that focuses that field. This grand arena of Attunement friendships in Being and stewarding creative fields is just beginning to open up again in the conscious awareness. In reality, Being-to-Being Attunement and the corresponding relationships are what carry the weight and substance of purpose in daily living. Participating in this process is like taking a breath of fresh air!

The human world is in crisis in every aspect of human behavior and endeavor. What is the answer? Authoritarian or democratic government? No, there is no human form of government that will work to adequately accommodate the unified radiation, only divine government. In the human crises of the past—like wars, World War II or Korea or Vietnam—various ones were on hand and in human form to hold the spiritual line, so to speak. Uranda and a small handful of others with him in his creative field were able to hold the spiritual line during World War II such that the dark and sinister forces of the ego mind were not able to control and rule the world. Today it is our time! Holding the spiritual line, stewarding the unified radiation, is in our hands. Let's live in Attunement, live consciously, and not only generate the new heaven, pneumaplast, through which the unified radiation may be expressed but also fill out the essences and vibrations of heaven, the spirit of Life—the spirit of Truth/Light—the spirit of Love. We do have a heavenly heredity. And, in the seasons of the divine, the new heaven will bring forth a new earth.

At long last, all the various substitutes such as the oceans, the atmosphere, the mountains and the electromagnetic field, which have long provided a necessary moment in eternity to the end that there could be the re-emergence of conscious Creator-Beings in form on the planet, may pass away. Why? Because divine man and woman created in the image and likeness of the Creator is present again.

Neither John nor I are looking for response here. This is a working session. Our purpose was not to educate you. That said, if the hour has been educational for you, okay! Let the Creator-Beings who are awake give voice to and share in the unified radiation.

Following Comments:

Chris Jorgensen: Let the unified radiation do the work. It will draw into one's creative field what is required, and will repulse and dissolve what isn't. There is no need for second guessing on the part of the human form, just let the radiation work and enjoy what comes and goes.

John Gray: Chris, you and I have known each other in person since 1969, but as Creator-Beings a whole lot longer! This is true of each of us. There is power unspeakable in unified radiation, power to accomplish all things necessary in the fulfillment of the creative process.
